As a result of the unlawful conspiracy, the defendants embezzled, stole and obtained by fraud, in excess of $1,394,358.95 of public funds which were designated for the research and treatment of the AIDS crisis in San Juan.

40. The funds paid to these corporations would be used for the personal benefit of the defendants and their related corporate entities.

41. At times, funds processed for the payment of legitimate debts of ACHS and/or ISSJ would be unlawfully diverted for the personal benefit of the defendants.

42. Contracts purportedly for professional services would be entered into between ACHS and various other individuals, corporate entities and organizations, in order to provide a mechanism to divert ACHS funds for the personal benefit of the defendants' and their related corporate entities.

43. ACHS checks payable to these corporate entities and organizations would be converted into manager's checks in order to facilitate the negotiability of said checks and their transfer to their ultimate destination.

44. These manager's checks would be deposited into the Southern account at Hamilton Bank in order to conceal the ultimate destination of these monies.
